1. Where Leaders Are Made

Since 1924 Toastmasters International has been recognized as the leading organization dedicated to communication and leadership skill development. Through its worldwide network of clubs, each week Toastmasters helps more than quarter of a million men and women of all ethnic backgrounds, education levels and professions to build their competence in communication.

By regularly giving speeches, gaining feedback, leading teams and guiding others to achieve their goals in a supportive atmosphere, leaders emerge. They learn to tell their stories. They listen and answer. They plan and lead. They give and receive constructive feedback. They find their path to becoming great leaders.

2. Your benefits of membership

There are a lot of reasons why people profit from being a Toastmaster. Many people join Toastmasters to become a better speaker. Improving your communication skills will help you in your everyday life, e.g. when doing a presentation at work, chairing a conference or celebrating a family jubilee. You can improve your leadership qualities as well by giving feedback to your fellow Toastmasters or taking over an official

4. That's how we do it

Usually a meeting at BASFToastmasters follows a clear structure. It consists of specific roles and functions and is planned neatly in advance. Here is an example of an agenda with explanations to the roles and activities.

The Toastmaster of the evening is in charge organizing the meeting, introducing the speakers and ensuring smooth transitions between the different activities.

Starting times help to ensure an orderly meeting process. Each presentation has a certain time frame.

Speech is power: speech is to persuade, to convert, to compel. It is to bring another out of his bad sense into your good sense.

Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The 3rd part of the meeting is chaired by the General Evaluator.

Confirming your attendance makes it much easier to plan the meeting. Use easy-Speak or contact a club officer.

5. Communication and Leadership

The Toastmasters concept consists of the Communication track and the Leadership track. You can work on both tracks at the same time and at your own pace.

Members who wish to focus on communication skills begin with the Competent Communication manual that's included in the New Member Kit. The 10 speech projects in this manual will help you develop your speaking skills one step at a time. When you finish all of the projects, you are eligible for Competent Communicator (CC) recognition.

Most speakers have four speeches: what they have prepared, what they actually say, what they wish they had said, and what they are quoted as saying.

Continuing the Communication track you can work on the Advanced Communication Series. There are 15 manuals, each containing five speech projects. Many of the manuals are career-oriented. You choose the manuals you want to complete and the skills you want to learn. Working in the advanced manuals, you'll refine and enhance your speaking skills and become eligible for several awards

The Competent Leadership manual is the core of the leadership track. It features 10 projects, which you complete while serving in various club meeting roles. An evaluator will give you feedback on each project, helping you to improve. When you complete the manual, you are eligible for Competent Leader (CL) recognition. After earning the CL award you can further refine and develop your leadership skills by working in the advanced leader program.

6. Everyone's in charge

A Toastmasters meeting is a learning-by-doing workshop in which participants hone their speaking and leadership skills in a no-pressure atmosphere. There is no instructor; instead, members evaluate one another's presentations.

This feedback process is a key part of the program's success. Meeting participants also give impromptu talks on assigned topics and learn how to conduct meetings.

The organization on club, area and divsion level of Toastmasters is based on voluntary work. Every Toastmaster can be elected into the different roles and position. With this system membership fees are kept low and everyone has the chance to improve leadership skills.

7. Want to do more with Toastmasters?

As a Toastmaster you are part of an international community. If you like you can do much more than attending the meetings of BASFToastmasters and working on your communication and leadership projects. There are many activities you can join.

Visit other clubs in the Rhein-Neckar region or all around the world, attend speech contests on Area or Division level or go to a District Conference where Toastmasters from all over Europe meet twice a year – a special event full of fun and learning!

8. Join us and be part of it

We always welcome guests and are happy to tell everyone more about Toastmasters. By visiting us you can get to know our club personally and you can participate actively in our meeting. As a BASF employee you can become a member of BASFToastmasters!

To join you'll need to pay a one-off admission fee and a monthly membership due of 6 EUR. Once you are a member you can immediately begin with your first speech project – the Ice Breaker. In addition you are able to work on the leadership track.

9. FAQ

Do I have to attend every meeting?

Participation in our meetings is voluntary. But of course you will improve your skills faster by joining regularly. And the more people attend the meetings the more successful each member and the club will be.

How long does my membership last?

You always register until September as a member of Toastmasters. If you do not renew your membership for the following year, the membership ends automatically.

What happens if I can't attend BASFToastmasters any longer?

You can transfer your membership to any Toastmasters club at any time. There are more than 15,400 clubs in 135 countries worldwide and more than 90 clubs in Germany.
